

The MANABOUT TOWN(BY HARRY TUCKER.)

Every one knows that winter comes around but once a year,

And that from June to August no snows
or frosts are here.

or frosts are here.

It's a well known fact, without dispute,
That in July you can shoot the chute,
And never set cold—
So we've been told—
And catch a fine bath to boot.

could.

Are trying to stretch the windly snap,
For the general public don't give a rap;
They are seeking to give us a long win-

$ And the ground hog, too, is in the scheme.

You'll find the time is coming along when the fellow who haunts you with his song

Of spring and summer and leafy bowers,
Of four-leaf clover and bunches of flow-

will be forever chased off the map,

The time is coming, you can't deny.
When summer'll be in the sweet by and by:
So far away
That the smell of hay
Will never be smelt; we are in fear
That winter has come to stay all year.

Mary and John went out to skate-

Mary and John went out to skate—
Oh, sad his fate!
For the ice was thin,
Glohn broke in.
"Save me, Mary!" shouted he;
"Sure I will." said she.
"But promise me
That you will be
Mine forevermore
Before I pull you to the shore,"
"Twas Leap Year, John had most forrotten.

Fore he found the ice was rotten.
Mary had him by his hair.
By his flowing auburn hair:
Hidd his head above the wave—
And Johnnie chose a watery grave.

If we only had the time to do so we'd telt at the table at Kirkwood's all day and I feast on the pretty girl with the sparkling

The appreciation of beauty is our long

The appreciation of beauty is our long suit.

We could live on admiration of all that is beautiful, and that's why we have to go to the country in the summer time and watch the pretty little pigs as they come up from the pasture at the call of the preity dairymaid, as she sits on the side of the brook and dangles her pretty toos in the pretty water, among the beautiful pebbles at the bottom of the creek, where the cels swim about and lazily grab the gnaits as they float in the breezes above the lake at the top of the mountain, among the weeping willows in the moonlight, as the sun rises o'er yonder sagebrush thicket, and all nature awakens to the thought of loye, like the sweet song of the chanticleer, as he tells everybody that day is here.

Or words to that effect.

We are now cured.
After suffering with brain troubles for weeks and weeks, we took a sample bottle of To-Ni-Ta, and now our friends are convinced that we have, after all, a brain.
So after this we may be expected to do great things, and some day one of the Barefooted Six may be President of these United States.

"MAN BEHIND THE GUN."

Dr. Weston Bruner Will Speak To-morrow.

The men's meeting at Y. M. C. A. Hall to-morrow afternoon will be big, sure, because there will be two great attractions. Rev. Weston Bruner, D. D., pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, will be the speaker. His theme is a timely one, "The Man Behind the Gun." In Japan and Russia this is the all improvements.

portant question.
Added to the attractive speaker will Added to the attractive speaker will be a musical organization of note, the Arion Male Quartette of Atlanta, which is in demand all over the country. William Jennings Bryan says: "They are fine. They not only know how to sing, but their songs are well received." They willi render the following programme to-morrow afternoon:
